Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I feel that the proposed Microsoft settlement falls short in many ways. Firstly, I agree with Dan Kegel's comments in his open letter, which I am sure you have and which is available at:

<http://www.kegel.com/remedy/letter.html>

I do not see such a provision in the revised proposed Final Judgment, but I would also like to say that any offer by Microsoft to "give" Microsoft products to schools is in fact a transparent attempt by Microsoft to preserve and extend their software monopoly rather than an effective remedy for their past and current monopolistic practices.
